I remember going to Harold & Garnett's home in the country when my parents were wanting him to build our house, probably around 1958. He and his crew did a great job building a home that lasted until my dad's death, and my mother's moving to an apartment. I hated to see our home go to someone else because it was such a part of all of us. Thank you Harold, for your hard work. Posted by Nancy Bryant Sackett July 07, 2012

Harold was married 2 of my aunts sister, Garnett, and they use to come spend time visiting, having fireworks with us all. They were good people. They came to my parents, Glenn & Kathleen Marshall, home for all the good times.
