We had many great times and I have a lot of great memories. And some regrets too. But always glad to call you a friend. Wish many things in life would have been different. You left way too soon, just as we were starting to reconnect. Your final act of kindness will allow you to live on and serves to remind us all of the kind of people we should hope to be. You'll be greatly missed.

Chad was always a caring and easy going person. He was the kind of guy who could be trusted, who was there for people who needed him even when he needed someone, himself. In my memory's eye, he is still a young man fresh out of high school. The last time I saw him, he made me feel better about something despite my own flaws...that was who Chad was. He was kind, forgiving, and a terrific friend. I know he is with God... Posted by MARGARET MURPHY - Virginia Beach, VA - Old friend December 13, 2013
